Reliability-oriented comparison for the CompCancer benchmark

Points denote prediction bins; the dashed diagonal marks perfect calibration; point size reflects bin count.

Point labels show mean predicted probability / observed positive rate.
RLR remains closer to the diagonal across much of the middle range, whereas k-TSP shows coarser vote-derived bins and larger intermediate deviations.